

The Daily Courant.

Saturday, March 23. 1706.

From the Leiden Gazette, dated March 9.

Liege, March 5.

TO Day General Salish went from hence, attended by a Guard of Horse, to take a View of the Fortifications of Hasselt and Tongres; and also of the Plain of Borchloen, pursuant to an Order he receiv'd Yesterday by an Express from the States General: 'Tis believ'd there is a Design to form a Camp on that Plain the Beginning of next Month. Collonel Croonstrom, who lately return'd to Huy of which he is Governour, has set Men to work to strengthen the Fortifications of that Place with a new Bastion.

From the Leiden Gazette, dated March 11.

Liege, March 9. The 6th Instant, General Salish return'd hither from Hasselt, after having given necessary Orders for perfecting the Fortifications of that Place. The 4th a Party of French of 50 Foot and 100 Horse, attempted to surprize a Guard of 40 Horse that were posted at some Distance from Huy to cover the Workmen employ'd on the new Fortifications of Fort St. Joseph; but Collonel Croonstrom Governour of that Place having Intelligence of it in Time, march'd out with a strong Detachment, and posted himself in Ambush in a neighbouring Wood; and the French being drawn into that Ambush by the Retreat of the said Guard of 40 Horse, were so well receiv'd, that 10 of them were kill'd, and many more wounded and made Prisoners.

From the Leiden Gazette, dated March 18.

Letters from Mons of the 13th Instant advise, that great Stores of Hay, Oats, and Provisions, were laying up in the Magazines there; and that notwithstanding the King of France had order'd some Troops to live at Discretion on the Inhabitants of Cambray, who had mutinied against the introducing of the Use of grey Salt into that Town, his Majesty had thought fit to revoke the Ordinance he had caus'd to be publish'd for obliging them to use the said grey Salt. These Letters add, that the Archbishop of Cambray had made a Present to the King of 15000 Paracoons for carrying on the War; which Example 'twas suppos'd other Prelates would follow.

Hague, March 12. A few Days ago, the Prussian Minister presented a Memorial to the States, in which he desir'd them to revoke their Suspension of a Sentence pronounc'd by the Court of Justice of Ruremonde, relating to the County of Montfort, in Favour of the King of Prussia. This Memorial being taken into Consideration, there happen'd an equal Division of the Seven Provinces, which is a thing hardly ever known before; that is to say 3 of the Provinces were for revoking the said Suspension, and 3 for continuing it; and the Deputies of the 7th Province, which might have turn'd the Scale, were equally divided among themselves; so that no Resolution could pass. But the Prussian Minister took the Opportunity of the Absence of some Deputies the 5th Instant, to give in another Memorial on the same Affair: Which being taken into immediate Consideration, a Resolution pass'd, whereby his Demand was granted. We are inform'd the Court of Berlin has caus'd an Answer to be drawn up (in Order to be publish'd,) to a large Piece printed by Direction of the Princess of Nassau Friseland, concerning the Marquisate of Vlißing and Tervere in Zealand; in which there is one Passage that is ill taken by the said Court; 'tis this, 'That the King of Prussia had formally acknowledg'd he had no Pretention to that Marquisate. The Fact is, that in the Conferences that have been held for the dividing the Estate left by the late King William between his Prussian Majesty and the Prince of Nassau Friseland, his said Majesty yielded that Marquisate to the Prince; but as that Division has not had Effect, the said Cession of that Marquisate is also void of Course. The States have allow'd Collonel Genthem, a famous Party Leader, to form a Regiment of 6 Independant Companies on our Frontiers: This Regiment is to march always in the Rear of our grand Army; and when 'tis encamp'd, is to make Incursions upon the Enemy. The Collonel receiv'd his Commissiõn some Days return to them by the 13th of this Month; and that he has also given Order for the Troops in the most distant Quarters to advance to cover the Posts most expos'd, and to oppose any Attempts of the Germans.

From the Amsterdam Gazette, March 12.

Genoa, Feb. 20. Some small Barks having landed at Savone a certain Number of Barrels of Powder for the Duke of Savoy, one of the Duke of Turis's Gallies insulted one of those Barks in the Port and Jamag'd it: Of which our Regents having made of this State to the Duke of Savoy, he shortly expected back from thence: He writes, that he has been entertain'd with extraordinary Kindness in England, and has succeeded perfectly well in his Negotiations. Notwithstanding the great Penalties to which the Venetian Nobles are subject, if they refuse to go upon any Embassy to which they are nominated by their Senate, Signior Mocenigo who is here persists peremptorily in his Resolution not to accept the Embassy of France to which he has been elected, and offers rather to reside here. He expects Letters in 8 or 9 Days, to inform him what Judgment the Senate have pass'd upon him. The Council of State has conferr'd the Employment of Director of the Approaches upon M. Coehorn, Son of the late famous Ingenier of that Name, in the room of M. Volkerhoven who has retir'd.

Day, about 30 more light Colliers from the Southward, and some Coasters and London Traders; as also the Merlin, Captain Clerk Commander, so that here are now in our Roads about 60 Sail of Light Colliers.

Harwich, March 21. Yesterday the Merlin Sloop, with all the light Ships under her Convoy, sail'd to the Northward.

Deal, March 21. Her Majesty's Ship the Dunkirk sail'd this Morning to convoy the Martha and Houland lately arriv'd from the East-Indies, to the River. Her Majesty's Ship the Monmouth sail'd this Morning to cruize. Several of the Queen's Ships, and Merchant Ships outward bound, had prepar'd to sail to the Westward; but the Wind being come N. N. W. its believ'd they cannot sail.

The Wind being since come to the North East here at London, 'tis presum'd those Ships are now sail'd.
